

Dublin Dispute Resolution Centre Rooms and Rates

OUR ROOMS

The Dublin Dispute Resolution Centre (DDRC) is a purpose-built centre that operates as a one stop shop for dispute resolution from the time initial contact is made to the conclusion of the process. The Centre caters for arbitrations, mediations, hybrid-remote hearings, and other forms of alternative dispute resolution as well as ancillary activities such as meetings. Our facilities have been used by leading national and international clients. We provide discreet, high-quality and customised solutions for you.

The DDRC is located in the Distillery Building on Church Street, beside the Four Courts and in the heart of Dublin's legal quarter. It has four large hearing rooms with world class arbitration, alternative dispute resolution (ADR) and meeting support facilities, in addition to a number of ancillary breakout/meeting rooms. It is fully air conditioned with dedicated power and data lines to every desk and WiFi throughout the Centre.

There is onsite catering available and access to tea and coffee facilities around the clock. The Centre also has 24-hour access, seven days per week. It has secure document storage and is designed for your privacy, and alternative entrances, which means that you can enter and exit the building privately with a lift direct to our underground car park.

Most of the things you would consider as extras are included as standard at the DDRC, such as screens for video links, use of in-house laptops, flip charts, a digital projector and screen, or wall-mounted television for presentation. For everything else, we have close links with partner services and can provide you with a complete solution.

Please contact us for more details.
